Directory of Job Oriented Training Courses in Nine GAA Districts, Telangana State, India

SECTION I: INTRODUCTION

Background to the booklet: This booklet gives information about the vocational training institutes in the State of Telangana and the courses offered by them. It is an outcome of the study commissioned by Mahita-Plan India, as part of its Girls Advocacy Alliance (GAA) Programme, for mapping the vocational training institutes in the State (Box 1). Mahita-Plan assigned the task of conducting the study to the Poverty Learning Foundation (PLF). The study was carried out between July and September 2019. The booklet attempts to provide complete information on JOVTs in the State in a single document.

Box 1: About the study

The Girls Advocacy Alliance (GAA) programme, a global initiative, aims to promote equal rights and opportunities for young girls and women. In India, the emphasis is on addressing the issues of child marriage and child trafficking, promoting secondary education for girls, and Job Oriented Vocational Training (JOVT) for young women. The programme works closely with Communities, Civil Society Organizations (CSOs), the Government and the Private Sector.

Lack of access to information on vocational training institutions and courses offered by them is affecting the chances of young women from availing JOVTs. There is thus a need to make information available on JOVTs. In this context, Mahita-Plan commissioned a study for mapping of vocational training institutes in the States of Andhra Pradesh and Telangana with the following objectives:

1. To identify all the training institutes run in 6 Districts of Andhra Pradesh and 9 (new) districts of Telangana; and
2. To collect detailed information on each of the courses offered by these Institutes.

The information generated through this study would be disseminated across the key stakeholders to help young women access and avail the existing opportunities for vocational training/education.

Information for the booklet: Information about VTIs and JOVTs conducted by them was collected mainly from online sources. Wherever online sources were unavailable, information was gathered from the concerned departments and institutions, at the State or District level. The information thus collected was organized and compiled into a booklet.

Purpose and objectives of the booklet: JOVTs are carried out by a wide variety of institutions/departments in the State¹. It is evident that due to the lack of coordination between State and District, these institutions are functioning in a silo mode. This situation has not changed much despite Skill India Mission's mandate to bring convergence among the various initiatives around skill training to put them under a single umbrella.

A trainee needs complete information about JOVT to be fully aware of the opportunities available; and to make informed choice of courses to take. Presently, the aspiring trainees find it difficult to access the scattered information on VTIs and JOVTs. Prospective trainees currently access the information through media, particularly newspapers, advertisements and mobilization drives by VTIs. These limitations force them to make decisions based on limited understanding of opportunities.

Although both men and women are eligible to get enrolled for a majority of courses, gender stereotypes restrict young women from accessing vocational training courses other than Tailoring, Embroidery, and Beautician. This choice mainly stems from societal outlook and established gender norms. No specific efforts are being made to overcome gender stereotypes and encourage young women to avail JOVT across all the sectors.

Improved access to information for young women on the opportunities available for JOVT is an essential step in addressing this issue. Therefore this booklet is aimed at improving information access to young women on VTIs and JOVTs.

The main objectives of the booklet are:

1. To make comprehensive information on the VTIs and JOVTs available in one document;
2. To provide greater access to information about JOVTs to young women to help them overcome barriers in accessing courses; and
3. To provide information about JOVTs to the key stakeholders, including those involved in policy and program implementation.

Use of the booklet: The booklet will serve as a useful reference document/resource book for trainees as well as other key stakeholders. Also, it can be used as an instrument in advocacy by the key stakeholders engaged in the GAA program for encouraging and motivating young women to avail and benefit from JOVTs in the State. The booklet can also be used by the State/District administration to understand the landscape of JOVTs and facilitate coordination between and across departments, and to steer vocational training/education system in a meaningful manner.

Organisation of the booklet: This booklet is organised into five sections starting with introduction. Section 2 provides an outline of the landscape of vocational education in the State. Section-3 deals with Job Oriented Vocational Trainings (JOVTs) offered under different programmes in the State. (The detailed information on each of the courses is provided in excel format). Section 3 presents the availability of Vocational Training Institutes in the State, and information on VTIs available in the nine operational Districts of GAA. Section 5, provides certain conclusions.

SECTION V: CONCLUSIONS

Mahita-Plan desires to carry out this study using information from online sources. While carrying out this study, it was realised that online information is not available for some JOVTs, in particular, those related to different departments/corporations in the State government. Therefore, mapping of VTIs requires not only mining information from online sources but also gathering information from the concerned departments.

For bridging skill gaps, the State has two streams of initiatives: (i) enhancing the employability skills of the students⁵ in schools, degree colleges, ITIs and Polytechnic colleges, and Engineering colleges; and (ii) skilling and up-skilling the unemployed youth for the wage employment and self-employment. This booklet deals with initiatives about the second stream.

All schemes/programmes choose to implement JOVTs either directly in their own institutions or indirectly through Training partners. NAC and RSETI conduct courses in their institutions. Besides, they also act as a training partner for other schemes. For other schemes, the courses are conducted using training partners. Another scenario existing is that ST-corporation besides using training partners for their courses also directly courses in YTC.

Approved list of courses for each scheme/programme/department is available. From the list of approved courses, only selected courses are implemented every year based on demand by the students. Thus, not all the approved courses are implemented each year. The JOVTs included in the report are those carried out in 2018-19, and that are mentioned in work orders issued up to September 2019.

Generally, VTIs submit proposals seeking work order only after requisite number (i.e., more than 15) of students are listed. The course would be kept on hold till VTIs get minimum requisite number (VTIs can seek work order only for courses that are approved).

Renewal of old VTIs or the selection of new ones takes place once in a year. Work orders for the VTIs selected are given on a quarterly basis, which would be the basis for VTI to initiate another batch of students. There is a possibility for a change of courses to be implemented by VTIs with the issue of each work order (i.e., once in a quarter), as a proposal requesting for courses would come from the VTI.

- While sanction of VTIs is the responsibility of State-level officials, monitoring is done at the District level by the concerned officials.
- Work orders issued up to September 2019 were referred to in preparing this booklet. There is a need for periodic updating of information on courses.

⁵The State government has created Telangana for Skill Knowledge (TASK) for skilling of students. And it is created under NSDC.

- In some cases, there is a delay in the implementation of the work orders. This is more so in the case of MEPMA.

In few cases, the online data is not updated and hence we included data available in online for the previous year i.e., 2018-19. Thus, there may be possibility in change of VTIs, address of location, etc. So, data have to be used with a caution. GAA representatives need to regularly follow-up and update changes to make the information relevant.

Every department in the State has either started or planning to start JOVTs through respective corporations and allied institutions. Information about JOVTs initiated under various departments is not available in online. So, the study gathered information from the departments. Given the time and resources, we collected information from SC/ST/BC/women corporations, and MEPMA. Mahita-Plan can explore possibility of collecting information from other departments.

To conclude:

- Since we have relied on online information, a range of other initiatives might have missed out of this booklet.
- There are many other institutions that are running paid or free courses. Some of them include Lions club, Red Cross Society, Rotary Club, private banks and financial institutions and private VTIs. (JOVT information for Red Cross is given; and same courses are conducted in other districts under NSDC.) The study could not cover these initiatives as online information on this is not available.
- Open schooling system also offers vocational courses, which are not included in this report.
- Added to this, very many informal mini-VTIs are also functioning at micro level (i.e., small towns). In case, we want to include this information proper mapping exercise to be done at sub-district and District levels.
- We suggest that regular updating of the information furnished in this report by approaching the respective departments.
